At TAFE NSW you don't need to do a whole certificate.

You can just learn what you need and get recognised for what you already know.

You will need evidence that can support an application for recognition. This could include: certificates, reports, references, work samples, qualifications and in some cases practical demonstration.

Customer Service Officers and TAFE NSW Counsellors can provide general recognition information. Teaching sections can provide specific advice, support and information on how to apply for recognition in courses.
